KCTC CRIMINAL JUSTICE POLICY REGARDING INDUSTRY INTERACTION

2016 and 2017 School Year

NON-FRATENIZATION:

- As a student in the KCTC Criminal Justice Program, you will be exposed to several opportunities and experiences. These experiences may include internships, community service, police department ride-along, high school police academies, college police academy scenarios, explorer programs, and many more. While participating in these activities you will be meeting, mentoring, and working with people within the Criminal Justice Industry. Although you are a KCTC Criminal Justice student, the KCTC Criminal Justice Program is independent from any program that occurs outside of the classroom and class hours.

- As students are involved in these programs they may begin to feel comfortable with the Criminal Justice Professionals they encounter. It is against KCTC Criminal Justice Policy and KCTC policy for any student to form any kind of personal relationship with anyone in industry that steps outside professional boundaries. These boundaries are described in the KISD Bylaws and Policies under the Anti-Harassment administrative guidelines (4362 and 3362- Anti-Harassment Policies). Examples of prohibited behavior which serve to foster an inappropriate boundary invasion between student and industry professional are included, but not limited to those under the 3362- Anti Harassment Policy.

- A few examples of stepping outside professional boundaries are:

  I. Unwelcome sexual propositions, invitations, solicitations, and flirtations.
  II. Unwelcome and inappropriate touching, patting, or pinching; obscene gestures.
  III. Inappropriate boundary invasions by a student with another adult member of the School District or Industry professionals which infringes into a student's personal space or personal life.
  IV. Taking an undue interest in an industry professional or college academy student (i.e. having a "special friend" or a "special relationship")
  V. Initiating or extending contact with industry professionals and college academy students beyond the scope of the academic environment.
  VI. Using e-mail, text-messaging or websites to discuss personal topics or interests with industry professionals and with college academy students.

- Any student suspected or reported of being in violation of this policy will be reported to the KCTC’s Building Administration for further investigation and potential removal of the student from the CJ Program.
